The Ted Smith Practitioner of the Year Award recognizes the Illinois School Psychologists Association member who is most outstanding in the practice of school psychology. I am proud to announce that Dr. Robert Ingraham from Palatine High School has been chosen as the 2011 Practitioner of the Year.

During his District 211 career, “Dr. Bob” has completed over 1,000 case study evaluations, participated in over 12,000 parent meetings and IEP conferences, and facilitated more than 100 support groups. As one administrator wrote, “It is almost impossible to put on paper the impact “Dr. Bob” has had on the students, staff, parents, interns, and school psychologists not only in High School District 211, but well beyond the district boundaries.”

Dr. Bob has implemented countless programs, initiatives, and interventions, all aimed at improving the social, emotional, behavioral, and academic functioning of students. And, through in-services, collaboration, and his work with interns, he is inspiring others to provide the same committed, dedicated, and co
